8. How did the program help you become more familiar with campus?

Learned the campus. Met new people.

Going around campus almost everyday gave me a better sense of where places are, however it is most effective to go around by myself after welcome week and really know the campus.

It showed me more of what was going on.

Brings people around campus. Truly giving one the sense of where they are as far as location.

I got to walk around the campus, which helped me find where some of the buildings are, and I got to meet new people.

Information.

It helped me to become more familiar with some of the student groups on campus.

It made me look around the website and around campus to find the answers to the questions, and I actually learned a lot, so I think this program is very good.

It made me aware of all of the opportunities on campus.

I gained a better understanding of where specific buildings were situated in relation to each other and campus at large.

It helped me become more familiar with the campus by giving me resources to use if I had questions.

I went to activities and looked up things online.

i got to meet new friends and i learned about new resources around the university.

It was great. It helped me be able to navigate the campus with more ease and know the various resources that proved to come in handy this semester and learn how the campus health center works.

Didn't. I did PSEO for two years. Already knew the campus

This helped for me to find organizations and other resources.

I was already familiar with the campus because I did PSEO here, but I still participated because I wanted to meet more people.

It helped me to discover events that I normally would not have known about, like the SMART learning commons in the library.

By going to different buildings on all three campus' I feel more comfortable in where I am going. I now know most of the major landmarks.

It didn't.

It helped me become acclimated to the U's campus and college life.

Resources

gave me incentive to go out and participate

I learned things that not everyone knew already.

It didnt.

It allowed me to become more familiar with the campus and see what college was all about.

i got a better feel for the atmosphere and city life.

The program let me know that there are organizations opened for me and it gave me a chance to get more people then I did before.

I met more people.

It allowed me to visit U of M based websites and get familiar with them so I may use them for future reference.

It forced me to look for important information about the campus. I liked knowing i knew where to look eventually even if i didn't need it at the time.

It forced you to explore physical sites and internet sites

Showed me around campus. gave me insight into short cuts and good study spots.

It helped me discover resources on campus to help me with different aspects of college life.

learned a lot about different resources

It was good, and i learned alot, but the whole welcome week event was too packed with activity. there was not enough free time, so by this time we were tired of no time to chill.

We walked around and I got to see more of campus.

more knowledge

Made you research campus activities/events

It helped me to locate the many different resources that there are on campus.

It let me see what the campus has to offer.

Just got to know my way around the campus a little better and got to meet some nice people.

the locations of buildings and where to go for certain resources

It actually helped a ton! By participating I learned a lot about the University :)

The constant moving aruond to different areas to get to certain activites was helpful in navigating the campus.

It gave me more resources on way to find things in the campus.

It provided a fun way to learn about the community here.

I had to learn about certain aspects of the campus in order to answer most of the kick it! questions. If I didn't have to learn about them, I had to actually participatte in them.

It made you go places that you wouldn't normally go unless there was a reason for it.

It helped me find out where places were and what activities that were around.

helped me to go to events and learn about them online

Get more familiar with the resources.

It gave me tours and taught me quick ways to get around.And it also taught me alot of things about campus organizations, or clubs,etc.

they told us i believe everything we needed to know about the campus

orientation and welcomeweek
